BREAKING DOWN BARRIERS

American writer and civil rights activist James Baldwin, centre, was the star guest when Dalston Library was renamed CLR James Library in 1985

THE borough's rich cultural heritage often throws up unexpected treats like this image of James Baldwin in Dalston in 1985. The American writer and civil rights activist, known for works like 'Notes Of

A Native Son' and 'Another Country', had been invited over by the Council for the renaming of CLR James Library.

As the borough's Black History Season gets under way, now is the perfect time to find out more. See pages 6 & 7

BETTER RENTING

P RIVATE landlords will have to apply for a licence committing them to keeping properties in a good standard – or face prosecution and an unlimited fine – if new Council proposals go ahead.

The measures will protect the increasing number of renters living in dangerous conditions, focusing on the worst affected areas in Hackney.

This will mean landlords in parts of Stoke Newington and Clapton – where independent research shows 20 per cent of tenants face critical problems like dangerous boilers, exposed wiring or vermin infestations – would require a Council licence before letting out a property.

Landlords letting out shared properties – where more than one in five renters live with disrepair or hazardous conditions – anywhere in the borough would also require a licence as part of the new rules. These will affect all houses in multiple occupation ie those with two or more households living together and shared facilities.

Those who let a property without a licence, or fail to comply with its conditions – including six-monthly inspections and minimum standards of security, facilities and safety – will be committing a criminal offence.

The proposals come after the number of private renters in Hackney has doubled in the last ten years to 34,000, or one in three households, with increases in demand for homes forcing many renters to accept conditions that don't meet modern day standards.

Cllr Sem Moema, Mayoral Advisor for Private Renting and Affordability, said: "One in three homes in Hackney is privately rented, and too many renters face a raw deal of rising rents and a poor service from a minority of rogue landlords.

"In some parts of our borough, tenants face appalling conditions that put their safety at risk despite paying an average of £1,820 a month for a standard two-bedroom home.

"This is simply unacceptable. We believe that introducing these licensing measures will give us the powers we need to tackle landlords who exploit renters and make sure their homes are safe, secure and well-maintained.

"But crucially, we want as many renters, landlords and residents who experience these issues first hand to respond to this consultation."

Helping residents to aim higher

Employment service extends support to local people on low incomes

Residents on low incomes will have access to services including personalised employment support and work placements

HACKNEY Works, the Council's free employment service, has extended its support to include residents on low incomes as well as those who are out of work.

More residents can now benefit from the free service which connects local people to opportunities in the borough's businesses and beyond.

They will also have access to a range of services including personalised employment support; job and training opportunities; CV writing, job applications and interview technique; links to volunteering, work placements and apprenticeships; and access to IT facilities.

Cllr Carole Williams, Cabinet Member for Employment, Skills and Human Resources, said: "Thousands of residents have already found jobs and training opportunities through the employment and skills support service, and even more are set to do so under the new Hackney Works eligibility criteria.

"We are committed to building strong relationships with key growth industries across the borough, including for example the technology, digital, leisure and construction industries, and to helping local people access better quality jobs.

"By extending the programme to those on low incomes, we can help residents move into higher paid jobs and truly benefit from Hackney's growing economy and opportunities across London."

Hackney Works, previously called Ways into Work, supports residents to find employment in jobs across a wide variety of sectors including construction, design,

IT, retail, security and hospitality. Since 2012, the service has placed over 6,000 people into employment, as well as providing training opportunities to develop candidates' skills.

Test knife purchases kickstart week of action

HACKNEY'S Trading Standards team will be carrying out test purchases this month at borough shops which sell knives.

They will be out in force as part of London Trading Standards Week, which starts on 25 September.

Teenage police cadets will pose as potential buyers to make sure that shops don't sell blades to under 18s.

Any shops flouting the law will be visited by Cake expectations!

A HACKNEY student dubbed 'most likely to appear on Bake Off' when he left school has made that prediction come true, becoming the youngest contestant on the hit show.

More than 6.5million people tuned in to see Liam Charles compete in the first episode of 'Great British Bake Off' on Channel 4, in which the 19-year-old created a cake that was disguised as a stack of pancakes and described by presenter Prue Leith as 'mouth-watering'.

The former Stoke Newington School pupil, now studying drama at Goldsmiths University, is known as 'cake boy' by his friends because of his obsession with the art of baking.

He started at the age of four, with his mother Eleanor, and now bakes with his young nephews to encourage them into the kitchen too.

"I wanted to apply to go on Bake Off because I wanted a new adventure.

"I wanted to push myself further. I am such a massive fan and so every time I watched it, if they made cakes, I would then go and bake cakes too."

Arriving at the tent for the first time however, reality kicked in. He said: "I was so apprehensive. It's just so surreal. You arrive on a coach and when you see the tent, you find yourself going 'oh gosh, this really is happening to me.' OMG and when I saw Prue and Paul, well that was just totally nuts."

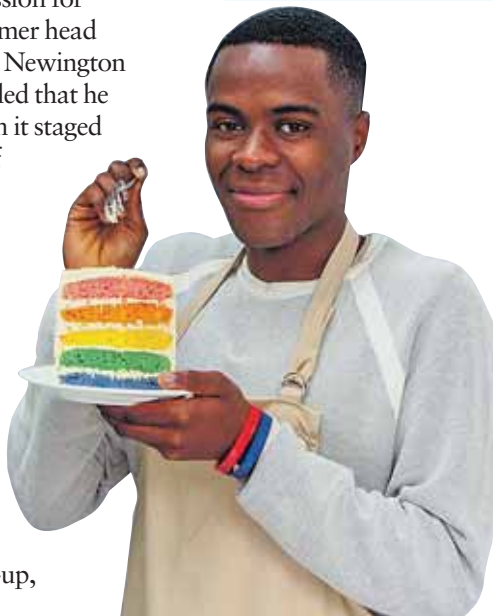

Despite his passion for the show, his former head mistress at Stoke Newington School has revealed that he did not win when it staged its own Bake Off competition.

Challenged to create a LGBT-themed cake to celebrate Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender History Month, Liam made a double chocolate cake. He came runner-up, however, to a classmate's pink triangle cake.

The 'baby-of-the-tent', Liam has been getting better and better as the series has gone on and bakers are whittled down. During 'caramel week', he mightily impressed Paul Hollywood with his salted peanut butter shortbread and a white chocolate and ginger showstopper, earning a rare Hollywood handshake and coming within a whisker of the coveted weekly 'star baker' accolade.

News in brief

Proposed changes to Hackney's Council Tax Reduction Scheme

A CONSULTATION has been launched on proposals to update the Council Tax Reduction Scheme (CTRS). This helps people on low incomes to pay their Council Tax. Around 32,000 residents receive the benefit via a means test and it costs around £25.5million a year to deliver.

The scheme has remained unchanged since it was introduced in 2013 and is now out of date. It no longer aligns with other means-tested benefits, meaning the current scheme has become less beneficial for working households in comparison to non-working households. The cost of the scheme is predicted to rise by £500,000 in 2018/19, with further increases expected in 2019/20. A consultation on the proposed changes, which would come into force next April, invites feedback on the Council's preferred option. This includes increasing the minimum contribution all working age CTRS claimants pay from 15 per cent to 20 per cent of their total Council Tax liability. For a single person with no children, receiving Employment Support Allowance and living in a Band B property, this would increase their weekly payment from £2.23 to £4.09. Pensioners will not be affected.

Mayor of Hackney, Philip Glanville, said: "It's not been an easy decision to increase the minimum contribution we ask working age households to pay. We think this is the fairest option, but want to know what residents and stakeholders think, so I'd encourage everyone to feed back their thoughts so that we can make a decision in the New Year."

The consultation runs until 6 November. To complete it online, visit: <https://consultation.hackney.gov.uk>.

For more information, e-mail: benefits@hackney.gov.uk; or call: 020 8356 3399.

The consultation will look at CTRS proposals

Cllr McShane to bid farewell

A LEADING figure in local politics is stepping down as a councillor after 13 years of service to the borough. Cllr Jonathan McShane, the current Cabinet Member for Health, Social Care and Devolution, has confirmed he is to step down after next May's local election. He said: "It's been an enormous privilege to serve the residents of Hackney for so many years. I've been lucky to work with people and organisations that are making a huge difference to the lives of people across our borough and to play a part in some of the really positive changes that have taken place in Hackney in recent years.

"Now feels like the right time to consider other opportunities." Cllr McShane will remain in post until the local elections. He added: "There's an awful lot of work to do between now and May. There's so much in the pipeline regarding changes to health, as well as huge pressures on adult social care, so I will remain very much part of the Cabinet."

The Council will be employing 25 participants as part of this innovative programme

DID YOU KNOW?

APPPLICATIONS are now open for the Council's Hackney 100 programme, a paid work placement scheme for local teenagers.

The unique initiative, which was piloted in 2014/15, will give 100 young people, aged 16 to 19, who live or study in Hackney their first experience of the working world. The scheme also enables the borough's employers to attract and retain future talent.

Mayor of Hackney, Philip Glanville, said: "We're delighted to bring back the Hackney 100 programme this year to support local young people in realising their ambitions."

"It is a fantastic opportunity for young people to get their foot on the career ladder, work with local industries and build-up a CV."

Hackney 100 participants will work with high-calibre local employers while earning £7.50 an hour for a minimum of 70 hours in total.

Placements are flexible to ensure both businesses and young people get the most out of the programme, with specific hours arranged between the business and the participant.

The Council is working with Inspire!, a local organisation that supports the education, training and development of young people, to deliver the programme.

Cllr Carole Williams, Cabinet Member for Employment, Skills and Human Resources, said: "The programme will help to provide young people in Hackney with the skills, confidence and contacts to become successful after they leave education.

"Previous participants have gone on to secure jobs, complete further work placements with other companies and received offers from top universities."

There are roles on offer across a number of business sectors, including tech, design, media and fashion as well as positions in hospitality, catering, engineering and finance.

The Council itself will employ 25 participants in a variety of roles and many other local businesses including Berkeley Homes, Optimity and Superimpose Studio have already signed up to the programme.

How the Hackney 100 helped shape Dila's view of the world

DILA Tumer, 18 who attended Haggerston School, took part in the Hackney 100 pilot working as a trainee reporter on Hackney Today.

She went on to win the title of Hackney 100 trainee of the year, as part of the Mayor of Hackney business awards in 2016.

She said: "I applied for the Hackney 100 programme because I wanted to try something different. The scheme offered a chance to build my experience while also getting paid."

Dila worked for the Council for six months as part of the Hackney 100 programme and did so well that her contract was extended until she went to university.

She said: "Growing up in a poor area of Hackney I was often surrounded by violence and negativity, but I was also part of a tight-knit community where everyone knew each other.

"This placement forced me to push myself. I got to know people from all over the world and from all different walks of life. I was treated as an equal. I was given real work, sent to events where I met even more people and I got to write about it too. The people that I have had the pleasure of working with have not only been mentors to me at "This placement forced me to push myself. I got to know people from all over the world and all walks of life" work, but have also taught me a lot about myself and life. They even took me out on my 18th birthday."

Dila is now studying Politics and History at SOAS, but hopes to stay in journalism when she graduates.

She added: "I would definitely recommend the Hackney 100 programme to any young people looking for jobs and work experience. My advice for anyone taking part would be to work as hard as they can to get what they want."

An ofo you can't refuse...

Ofo bikes can be seen in locations around the borough including Hoxton Square, Hackney Wick, Hackney Town Square, Hackney Central

BIKE sharing has arrived in the borough after Chinese firm ofo chose Hackney for the London launch of its dockless bikes after discussions with the Council.

An initial 200 bikes hit the streets earlier this month to gather insights into usage patterns and operations.

The number of bikes is set to increase to 750 by the end of next month to serve the whole borough.

Ofo is working closely with the Council to ensure the new bikes seamlessly integrate with existing cycling infrastructure.

Joseph Seal-Driver, ofo's UK operations director, said: "We're very proud to be working closely with such

“ This new type of bike sharing has the potential to change the way London moves ” committed partners as Hackney Council. It has demonstrated the kind of innovative thinking that will help ease London's perennial problems with congestion and pollution.”

The eye-catching yellow bikes are hired via a smartphone app and cost just 50p for 30 minutes. No deposit is required.

They can be picked up and dropped off anywhere bike parking is allowed.

With more than 15 per cent of commuters in Hackney choosing to cycle to work – the highest rate in London – the introduction of the dockless bikes will help the Council meet its ambitious target of 25 per cent of residents cycling to work by 2025.

Cllr Feryal Demirci, Cabinet Member for Neighbourhoods, Transport and Parks, said: “This new type of bike sharing has the potential to change the way in which London moves for the better. Santander bikes, which have been very successful in London, have not expanded as far as we would have liked.

“We are therefore really excited about ofo's potential to make cycling available to all our communities in Hackney.”

New fee for bulk collections

A SMALL fee for bulky waste collections is being introduced from 25 September.

Currently, households can book up to four free collections per year, of up to five items, for large items like furniture and appliances.

The planned charge of £15 for a collection of up to five items will be amongst the lowest in the country. The majority of London councils already charge for the service, with collections costing over £50 in some boroughs.

The Council wants to ensure the charge does not penalise those on low incomes, so residents on housing benefit will continue to receive four free collections per year.

Cllr Feryal Demirci, Cabinet Member for Neighbourhoods, Transport and Parks, said: “Due to Government cuts, the Council has to save another £14million this financial year. The income from this charge will help us continue to provide the high quality services expected by residents.” People with furniture in a reusable condition can have it collected free of charge by Homestore, the Council's charity partner.

There are also five household waste and recycling centres near Hackney that residents can take items to, free of charge.

To book a collection, visit: www.hackney.gov.uk/bulky-waste; or call: 020 8356 6688.

Upcycle unwanted furniture

OLD furniture is getting a fresh lease of life, thanks to a new upcycling hub launched on the Pembury Estate.

The hub, which encompasses a shop and training facility, was opened on 21 September by Groundwork London, a charity set up to help communities become more prosperous and sustainable.

It will be operated by The Loop @ Pembury, a volunteer group that collects unwanted furniture and refurbishes it before selling it on at affordable prices.

All profits from sales will help provide training to residents, as well as reducing the amount of household goods sent to landfill each year.

Ben Coles, Director of Communities and Environmental Services at Groundwork London, said: “The Loop at Pembury has been a huge success: reducing waste, providing affordable furniture and helping residents develop new skills. Now, with a new-look hub in an exciting new location, and thanks to the support of Peabody, blowUP media and North London Waste Authority, we can build on the great work already being done to get even more of the community involved.”

education

HACKNEY has welcomed news that the Government intends to change funding plans that would have cut £25million from the borough's schools.

The U-turn came after a passionate local campaign against the cuts which would have affected inner city areas like Hackney more adversely than other parts of the country.

However, the Deputy Mayor of Hackney, Cllr Anntoinette Bramble, warned the Government has not committed to maintaining funding beyond 2020, and vowed to keep pressure on ministers to ensure Hackney's education system does not suffer as a result of changes to the way schools are funded.

Under the Government's original proposals, funding for Hackney schools would have been cut by £25million by 2019/20. This translated to £914 less per pupil, or 692 fewer teachers across the borough.

In July, headteachers and governors from 50 Hackney schools signed a joint letter from Hackney's Mayor and Deputy Mayor calling on Secretary of State for Education, Justine Greening, to reconsider.

Last week, Ms Greening announced the new funding formula. This included a minimum cash increase of 0.5 per cent per pupil in all schools during 2018/19 and 2019/20.

All sixth form pupils at Urswick School were offered a place at university this year Photo: Sean Pollock

The proposals have been described as a real-terms freeze and the extra funding is not new money, but efficiency savings from the Department for Education (DfE). Cllr Bramble said: "It's reassuring that the Government listened to councils, teachers, parents and children in places like Hackney.

"What is not clear from the announcement is what happens after 2019/20, nor what will be cut

Any reduction to schools funding would jeopardise our record of improving educational standards from DfE's budget to fund the extra £2.6billion promised by the Education Secretary. We remain firmly of the view that any reduction to schools funding in Hackney is wholly unacceptable and would jeopardise the borough's record of improving educational standards. We also remain concerned over the increasingly unsustainable situation regards funding for children with special educational needs and disabilities.

"Should the new formula mean Hackney schools suffer cuts in the long-term, we will be very clear and vocal in our opposition."

ESOL courses will help migrants to contribute to Hackney

Helping migrants to integrate

A PROGRAMME to help migrants settle into the community has got the go ahead after funding was approved by the Government.

The Council will receive £430,000 for its Integrated Communities programme, which aims to improve support for recent migrants and help them settle and integrate into the community.

It will provide advice, signposting, engagement, employment training and English lessons for migrants, enabling those involved to contribute to their communities, while increasing their confidence and independence.

The programme will provide eight new English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) courses across the borough to help those who want to improve their English and increase their employment prospects.

The free weekly courses take place at venues across the borough including children's centres, primary schools, a library and Hackney Museum.

They combine ESOL training, employability advice and the chance to volunteer in the community, supporting people to get a job or progress at work.

Funding will also be made available to train Council staff and those in the voluntary sector, and to improve their understanding of the support available.

Cllr Carole Williams, Cabinet Member for Employment, Skills and Human Resources, said: "We want to ensure all migrants have the support they need to prosper and contribute."

To join a class, it is necessary to attend an ESOL advice session. For more information, visit:

www.learningtrust.co.uk/esol; e-mail: esol@learningtrust.co.uk; or call: 020 8820 7043.

Europe notes Hackney's inspiring schools

A GROUP of education advisors from Europe visited Hackney this month to see how the borough has established its schools as among the best in the country.

The group from the European Federation of Education Employers (EFEE), which aims to promote better quality teaching and learning across Europe through dialogue and peer learning, paid a visit to the borough's City Academy.

Belgian advisor Philippe Noben said: "The students and staff are so inspired by the values of the headteacher and school leaders at City Academy that they are carried out comprehensively in the classroom."

Joan Russell, Director for School Support Services, Education and Training Boards in Ireland, said: "What was inspiring for me is that this school [City Academy] talks about inclusion through teaching and learning as opposed to resources and admissions alone."

Deputy Mayor of Hackney, Cllr Anntoinette

Bramble, who invited the EFEE to the borough, added: "It's fantastic to share practice from our wonderful schools with our friends from across Europe.

"We may all have different education systems, but I hope the EFEE group could take away the inclusive and inspiring environment we try to foster in our schools."

Black History Season: Island to Island

5 Oct-13 Jan, Hackney Museum, 1 Reading Lane, E8 1GQ

A NEW exhibition will transport its audiences from autumnal Hackney to the hot Caribbean sun, through a photographic tour of its islands.

Photographer Tim Smith has made it his life's work to celebrate everyday life, landscape and light across the English-speaking Caribbean. This exhibition showcases his images of the region in which he was raised, and some of his father's photos from the 1950s. "I wanted to produce an exhibition which moves beyond the popular stereotypes of 'paradise islands'," he explains.

► For more info, visit: www.hackney.gov.uk/museum

Adding: "I set out to create photographs which explore the region's past and show how this history has shaped the Caribbean of today, embracing an extraordinary fusion of peoples and cultures drawn from the Americas, Africa, Europe and Asia, but still totally Caribbean."

Walking through the exhibition, you also travel through the region, discovering how heritage and character varies from island to island. Personal narratives from Hackney residents give the journey yet another dimension, exploring how these extraordinary islands have contributed to the rich tapestry of Hackney's current culture.

FESTIVAL fanatics rejoice! Just when you thought it was time to pack away your glow-sticks and wellies for the year, Oxjam Hackney is back for a one-day knees-up that blends great music with a good cause. The Oxjam-organised festival is run entirely by volunteers. There's nothing amateur about the up-and-coming acts, though. Previous line-ups have included Rag'n'Bone Man and the Mystery Jets.

This year, you can catch local bands like Winnie and The Rockettes, Jimmi Nolan and James Beau Barclay before they hit the big time. And with all proceeds going directly to Oxjam, what better reason can there be to boogie?

The Acting Class and Q&A

'ALL the world's a stage,' they say. Unless, that is, your world is not a privileged one. The Acting Class is a new documentary following the experiences of Tom, a young man from Bolton who is forced to turn down a place at drama school because he cannot afford the fees.

Frustrated, he sets up a campaign to highlight the lack of working-class people on the stage and screen.

He is not the only one concerned: stars including Christopher Eccleston, Maxine Peak and Samuel West appear alongside him in the film, talking about the barriers they encountered in their careers, and how this lack of working-class voices is limiting the stories that get told. Come and see the film at the Rio on 8 October, and you'll not only hear their contributions to the documentary, but also see them live on stage.

The filmmakers, plus special guest Eccleston, will be at the event for a Q&A session after the screening.

THE annual Stoptober campaign to encourage people to quit smoking is set to begin and the Council is encouraging the borough's 43,000 smokers to try and ditch cigarettes for the whole of next month.

The campaign is based on research that shows if people can stop smoking for 28 days they are five times more likely to quit for good.

Smoking is still the single biggest cause of preventable disease and death in Hackney, killing more than 200 people a year. It is also the biggest cause of health inequalities between rich and poor.

To tie-in with Stoptober, Homerton Grove will also become Hackney's first voluntary smoke-free park.

Cllr Jonathan McShane, Cabinet Member for Health, Social Care and Devolution, said: "We are really pleased to make Homerton Grove the first smoke-free park in Hackney to ensure patients, visitors and residents living nearby can enjoy spending time in a smoke-free environment."

Staff at Homerton hospital will also no longer be able to smoke in the grounds, or while wearing their uniform, as the hospital becomes fully smoke-free from January.

Sheila Adam, Chief Nurse at Homerton, said: "Smoking remains the number one health risk to people in this country and is the cause of many diseases and conditions, which costs the NHS

Say no to tobacco

Last year, more than 1,500 people successfully quit smoking through services provided in Hackney millions of pounds a year to treat.

"We are pleased to be working closely with the Council and other agencies in promoting this campaign."

Smokers wanting to quit are up to four times more likely to succeed if they access their local Stop Smoking Service.

Last year, over 1,500 people successfully kicked the habit using services provided in Hackney.

Smokers can search 'Stoptober' online and find a range of free and proven support which includes e-cigarettes, e-mail and social media support, the 'Stoptober' mobile app and different stop smoking aids.

Specialist stop smoking advisors will also be promoting Stoptober at locations across the borough including GP practices, community centres, Homerton hospital, children's centres and pharmacies.

'Treat it like an addiction and break the cycle'

KERRI Layton, pictured, quit smoking earlier this year after 13 years, following an operation on her vocal cords.

She said: "As a professional voice artist I wanted to stop damaging myself. I didn't smoke full time, just with a drink, but I wanted to live my life to my healthiest capacity and feel what it would be like to be completely smoke free. I feel amazing now!" On quitting the habit, she added: "It was hard as I've had to change my entire life. I got myself a dog so I wouldn't be tempted to stay out later at the weekend, and be tempted to smoke when I'm drinking. It wasn't serving me and I knew it. Pamper yourself and remember it takes only three days for the nicotine to leave your system and only three weeks to break the mental habit. It's an addiction at the end of the day nothing else, so treat it like one and break the cycle."

News in brief

Sugar survey's sweet prizes

A SURVEY is inviting people to spill the beans (or cubes) about just how much sugar they really consume. The survey, launched jointly by the Council and Hackney Food Partnership, aims to find out how 'sugar smart' the borough's residents are. Cllr Jonathan McShane, Cabinet Member for Health, Social Care and Devolution, said: "Overconsumption of sugar in Hackney is a major cause of the high levels of obesity, so it is vitally important we help people to reduce their intake. The survey will help us understand how best to do this."

Those who complete the survey before 30 October will be entered into a prize draw to win tickets to this year's Hackney Empire panto, free recipe kits from Make Kits and more. Complete the survey at: www.hackney.gov.uk/sugar-smart

Compassionate project rolls out

AN award-winning Hackney project is to be rolled out across the capital. Compassionate Neighbours, launched by St Joseph's Hospice in 2014, has trained 200 volunteers across Hackney to offer their time and emotional support to a neighbour who is living with a chronic or terminal illness, or who is experiencing social isolation.

The model has been awarded a grant of £233,000 from Nesta and the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport. It means that over 400 additional volunteers will now be trained, as St Joseph's works with St Christopher's hospice in South East London, to refine the project's approach. Then, hospices across London will be recruited to replicate the model, creating a capital-wide network. Tackling alcohol-related harm

PEOPLE are being asked for their input on how the Council tackles alcohol related harm and its effects in the borough. The aim is to ensure that there are effective treatment services and support for families, carers and young people who are suffering from the negative effects of alcohol. The Council also wants to hear from people about how the environment of local pubs, clubs and bars can be improved. The consultation closes on 9 October. To take part in the public consultation visit: <https://consultation.hackney.gov.uk/public-health/alcohol-strategy-consultation/>

Review of Parking Controls Zone A (Wenlock)

Hackney Parking Services are currently reviewing controls in Parking Zone A (Wenlock). We want to know whether the Parking Zone (PZ) is meeting your needs. The consultation starts on Monday 25th September 2017 for a period of six weeks.

Recipes straight from the ovens at Waterhouse

www.waterhouserestaurant.co.uk

THIS is the latest in a series of regular recipes courtesy of Waterhouse – a social enterprise restaurant alongside the Regent's Canal in Shoreditch. As autumn approaches, this creamy dish is the perfect choice for an affordable, filling hot meal.

Mushroom tagliatelle

Serves: 4

Preparation time
20 mins

Cooling time
10 mins

Ingredients

- 6 Portobello mushrooms
- 15g chopped thyme
- 5 shallots
- 50ml double cream
- 100g mascarpone
- 2 cloves of garlic
- 50g parmesan
- 300g tagliatelle
- Salt, pepper, to taste
- 1 tbsp olive oil.

Method

For the mushroom sauce

- Roast the mushrooms in the oven at 180 degrees for 8-12 mins with the garlic, thyme, salt, pepper and oil, then slice to 1cm strips
- Next, finely slice the shallots lengthwise and place in a hot pan. Sweat for 5-10 mins until translucent, then add the chopped garlic and thyme from the mushroom tray and sweat for a further 2-5 min
- Add the roasted mushrooms and cook for 2 mins

- Add the mascarpone and cook until the sauce starts to thicken, adding a little water if necessary
- Add the double cream and season to taste.

For the dish

- Add the tagliatelle to a pot of boiling water cook for 6-10 mins until al dente
- In a separate pan, heat the mushroom sauce and then add to the pasta for a further 2 mins
- Add a little grated parmesan to finish.

Waterhouse - through Blue Marble Training - supports young people across the borough towards careers in the restaurant industry. Owned by Shoreditch Trust, income from this enterprise goes back into training programmes across the borough. Waterhouse in Orsman Road, N1, is open Mon to Fri, 9am - 3pm. Evenings and weekends available for large bookings and private events. For more info, visit: www.waterhouserestaurant.co.uk For bookings e-mail: eat@waterhouserestaurant.co.uk; or call: 020 7033 0123.

Give your views on NHS prescribing proposals

RESIDENTS are being encouraged to give their views on proposals to remove some items that are routinely prescribed by GPs.

The consultation is being run by NHS England (NHSE) and NHS Clinical Commissioners as part of a plan to develop new national guidance on prescribing.

It is hoped this guidance will enable the NHS to make the best use of resources while continuing to deliver the best possible outcomes for patients.

This could mean items that are often routinely prescribed may only be provided where they are absolutely necessary and deemed to be 'clinically effective'.

The aim is to produce a clear, consistent and equitable prescribing process across the country, and to ensure that every prescription is based on

The proposals aim to help the NHS make the best use of resources sound clinical evidence and is cost effective.

A list of medicines and treatments considered to be low priority for NHS funding has been produced as part of the consultation. This list is available on the NHSE website.

The organisation would like to hear from patients, the public, health professionals and relevant interest groups.

The consultation is open until 21 October.

To submit your views, take part in an online survey at: www.engage.england.nhs.uk/consultation/items-routinely-prescribed/

The Mayor and councillors

Councillors are elected by residents and serve for four years. The last borough-wide elections took place in May 2014. Councillors have a range of responsibilities, including helping to oversee Council services.

They hold advice surgeries where residents can meet their local representative and ask them to take up issues of concern. Generally they can help with Council related matters, but if the issue is the responsibility of another person or organisation, councillors can often point people in the right direction and tell residents who they need to see.

Hackney has 57 councillors representing areas called wards – see map below.

MAYOR PHILIP GLANVILLE

Hackney's executive Mayor Philip Glanville was directly elected by the borough in 2016. He is the political leader of the Council, overseeing the budget and all Council services. The Mayor holds monthly casework surgeries in the Town Hall. To book an appointment, e-mail: mayor@hackney.gov.uk; or call: 020 8356 3269. Residents are first encouraged to contact their ward councillor. Civic and ceremonial duties are undertaken by the Speaker of Hackney, who is chosen annually from the borough's 57 councillors. The current Speaker is Cllr Soraya Adejare.

LONDON BOROUGH OF HACKNEY

THE FUTURE OF ST MARY'S LODGE, STOKE NEWINGTON

The Council has produced a draft Planning Brief to guide the redevelopment of St Mary's Lodge and to ensure this important locally listed building is preserved and sympathetically restored to its former glory.

The draft Planning Brief puts forward options for the redevelopment of the St Mary's Lodge building and the wider site. It is anticipated that the redevelopment will be led by a community use, such as education, with potential for residential development to the rear.

The draft Planning Brief is subject to a 6-week public consultation from today (Monday 25th September) until Monday 6th November 2017. The draft document is available to view on the Council's website <https://www.hackney.gov.uk/spd> and in Stoke Newington and Stamford Hill Libraries.

We welcome views from all interested residents and stakeholders on the options put forward in the draft Planning Brief. Comments can be submitted by completing the short questionnaire online at <https://consultation.hackney.gov.uk>, by email to planmaking@hackney.gov.uk or by post to London Borough of Hackney, Strategic Planning, 2 Hillman Street, Hackney, E8 1FB.

Comments will help inform the final version of the brief which is due to be adopted at the end of the calendar year. Following adoption, the planning brief will be used when considering planning applications on the site.

London Borough of Hackney Notice under the Town and Country Planning Acts and Related Orders The Applications can be inspected between 9am and 5pm at 1 Hillman Street London, E8 1DY. They can also be viewed on the following website: www.hackney.gov.uk/planning. Representations should be made in writing within 21 days to the Development Control Manager, 2 Hillman Street, London, E8 1FB. All representations will be acknowledged in writing. THE LONDON BOROUGH OF HACKNEY (1 – 45 MARIAN COURT (PHASE 4)) COMPULSORY PURCHASE ORDER 2017
Section 226(1)(a) of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 and the Acquisition of Land Act 1981

- 1. Notice is hereby given that The London Borough of Hackney, in exercise of the powers of the confirming authority under the above Acts, on 14 September 2017 confirmed without modifications The London Borough of Hackney (1–45 Marian Court (Phase 4)) Compulsory Purchase Order 2017. The sole objection to the Order received during the permitted period has been unconditionally withdrawn and consequently notification was given by the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government that the power to confirm the Order may be exercised by the acquiring authority in accordance with section 14A of the Acquisition of Land Act 1981.
- 2. The Order as confirmed provides for the purchase of the land described in Schedule 1 for the purpose of facilitating the carrying out of development, redevelopment or improvement of that land including by the delivery of new residential accommodation, community facilities, retail and commercial floorspace and enhanced public realm, including new play space and landscaped areas, which The London Borough of Hackney considers will contribute to the promotion or improvement of the economic, social and environmental wellbeing of the area.
- 3. A copy of the Order as confirmed by The London Borough of Hackney and of the map referred to therein have been deposited at Christopher Addison House, 72 Wilton Way, Hackney E8 1BJ and may be seen between the hours of 9am and 5pm Monday to Friday. An additional copy of the confirmed Order has been deposited at Homerton Library, Homerton High Street, Hackney E9 6AS and may be seen between the hours of 10am and 8pm Monday, Tuesday, Thursday; 1pm and 6pm Wednesday; 10am and 6pm Friday; and 10am and 5pm Saturday. The confirmed Order is also available to view online at: <http://hackney.gov.uk/marian-court>
- 4. The Order as confirmed becomes operative on the date on which this Notice is first published. A person aggrieved by the Order may, by application to the High Court within 6 weeks from that date, challenge its validity under section 23 of the Acquisition of Land Act 1981. The grounds for challenge can be that the authorisation granted by the Order is not empowered to be granted or that there has been a failure to comply with any relevant statutory requirement relating to the Order.
- 5. Once the Order has become operative, The London Borough of Hackney may acquire any of the land described in Schedule 1 below by executing a general vesting declaration under section 4 of the Compulsory Purchase (Vesting Declarations) Act 1981. A statement on the effect of Parts II and III of that Act is set out in Schedule 2 below.
- 6. Every person who, if a general vesting declaration were executed under section 4 of the Compulsory Purchase (Vesting Declarations) Act 1981 in respect of the land comprised in the Order (other than land in respect of which notice to treat has been given), would be entitled to claim compensation in respect of any such land, is invited to give information to The London Borough of Hackney at Christopher Addison House, 72 Wilton Way, Hackney E8 1BJ about the person’s name, address and interest in land, using a prescribed form. The relevant prescribed form is set out in Schedule 3 below.

SCHEDULE 1 – LAND COMPRISED IN THE ORDER AS CONFIRMED

Land within Marian Court, Hackney, London E9 being:
Land and building comprising Marian Court, lying south of Homerton High Street and east of Link Street, including residential building Flats 1 to 45 (inclusive), grassland and highway connecting the building and serving all those properties.

SCHEDULE 2 – FORM OF STATEMENT OF EFFECT OF PARTS II AND III OF THE COMPULSORY PURCHASE (VESTING DECLARATIONS) ACT 1981

Power to make General Vesting Declaration

- 1 Once The London Borough of Hackney (1–45 Marian Court (Phase 4)) Compulsory Purchase Order 2017 has become operative, The London Borough of Hackney (hereinafter called “the Council”) may acquire any of the land described in Schedule 1 above by executing a general vesting declaration under section 4 of the Compulsory Purchase (Vesting Declarations) Act 1981 (“the Act”). This has the effect, subject to paragraphs 3 and 5 below, of vesting the land in the Council at the end of the period mentioned in paragraph 2 below.

Notices concerning general vesting declaration

- 2 As soon as may be after the Council execute a general vesting declaration, they must serve notice of it on every occupier of any of the land specified in the declaration (except land where there is one of the tenancies described in paragraph 4) and on every person who gives them information relating to the land in pursuance of the invitation contained in the confirmation notice of the Order. When the service of notices of the general vesting declaration is completed, a period specified in the declaration, of not less than three months, will begin to run. On the first day after the end of this period the land described in the declaration will, subject to what is said in paragraphs 3 and 5, vest in the Council together with the right to enter on the land and take possession of it. Every person on whom the Council could have served a notice to treat in respect of his interest in the land (other than a tenant under one of the tenancies described in paragraph 4) will be entitled to claim compensation for the acquisition of his interest in the land, with interest on the compensation from the vesting date.
- 3 The “vesting date” for any land specified in the declaration will be the first day after the end of the period mentioned in paragraph 2 above, unless a counter-notice is served under Schedule A1 to the Act within that period. In such circumstances, the vesting date for the land which is the subject of the counter-notice will be determined in accordance with Schedule A1.

Modifications with respect to certain tenancies

- 4 In the case of certain tenancies, the position stated above is subject to modifications. The modifications apply where the tenancy is either a “minor tenancy”, i.e. a tenancy for a year or a yearly tenancy or a lesser interest, or “a long tenancy which is about to expire”. The latter expression means a tenancy granted for an interest greater than a minor tenancy but having on the vesting date a period still to run which is not more than the period specified in the declaration for this purpose (which must be more than a year). In calculating how long a tenancy has still to run, where any option to renew or to terminate it is available to either party, it shall be assumed that the landlord will take every opportunity open to him to terminate the tenancy while the tenant will use every opportunity to retain or renew his interest.
- 5 The modifications are that the Council may not exercise the right of entry referred to in paragraph 2 in respect of land subject to a tenancy described in paragraph 4 unless they first serve notice to treat in respect of the tenancy and then serve every occupier of the land with a notice of their intention to enter and take possession after the period (not less than three months from the service of the notice) specified in the notice. The right of entry will be exercisable at the end of that period. The vesting of the land will be subject to the tenancy until the end of that period or until the tenancy comes to an end, whichever happens first.

SCHEDULE 3 – INVITATION TO GIVE INFORMATION

Every person who, if a general vesting declaration were executed in respect of all the land comprised in the Order (other than land in respect of which notice to treat has been given) would be entitled to claim compensation in respect of any such land, is invited to give information to the authority making the declaration in the prescribed form with respect to his name and address and the land in question.
